COVID-19: Highlights and Situation Overview

- Worldwide, there have been over 53 million cases and more than 1.29 million deaths attributed to COVID-19.
- The Gamaleya National Center of Epidemiology and Microbiology in Moscow and the Russian Direct Investment Fund released interim Phase 3 trial results of its vaccine candidate named Sputnik V on November 11, claiming that it is 92% effective in protecting people from COVID-19 disease manifestation without prior infection to SARS-CoV-2. The analysis was conducted after 20 participants were infected with COVID-19 in a continuing large-scale clinical trial of 40,000 volunteers. The number of participants is significantly lower than the 94 infections in the interim analysis results released by Pfizer and BioNTech earlier this week. According to experts, the low number of cases reported in the Sputnik V trial indicates there is less certainty that the vaccine's true efficacy is above 90%, compared with the Pfizer and BioNTech analysis. More data and further follow-up is needed before a definite conclusion on effectiveness can be made. Meanwhile, Brazil's health regulator responded today to the suspension of Sinovac's Phase 3 trial in Brazil on November 9, stating that the clinical trials restarted on November 11. According to officials, the serious adverse event registered as the death of a study volunteer in Sao Paulo was discovered as a suicidal incident with no relation to the vaccine candidate.
- The Singapore Prime Minister said on Thursday (November 12) during ASEAN Summit (hosted by Vietnam) that Singapore will contribute USD100,000 to the COVID-19 ASEAN Response Fund as the region continues to work together to combat the pandemic. ASEAN leaders are also expected to sign the Regional Comprehensive Economic Partnership (RCEP) on Sunday in what could become the world's biggest trade agreement. According to the Prime Minister, the RCEP affirms ASEAN's collective commitment to economic integration and to an inclusive, open and rules-based multilateral trading system. The trade pact includes the 10-member ASEAN bloc, along with China, Japan, South Korea, Australia, New Zealand and until last year, India, which pulled out of the deal. In addition, Sabah Local Government and Housing Minister said that several standard operating procedures for the Sabah CMCO have been loosened in order to balance the impact of the pandemic and to help Sabah residents lead more normal lives. The government has taken into account several factors in relaxing some restrictions, such as allowing dine-in services at restaurants, with owners required to adhere to safety measures. Wedding ceremonies in Sabah will also be permitted during the CMCO, but solemnizations can only be held at the state's religious affairs' office. Malaysia reported 919 new COVID-19 cases on Thursday (November 12), bringing the country's total cases to 43,791.
- Malaysia's Health Director-General said on November 12 that COVID-19 cases in Sabah were stabilizing compared to last week and that the situation has been "brought under control". Majority of states in Malaysia, including Sabah, are currently under a conditional movement control order (CMCO), as the authorities attempt to tackle the resurgence of COVID-19. The restrictions under the CMCO, which runs until December 6, include a ban on inter-state travel and the closure of schools.
- Cambodia on Wednesday (November 11) banned all state-organized events in the capital and a neighboring province for two weeks to prevent the spread of COVID-19 after a number of people connected to a Hungarian official's visit tested positive. The decision came after the government struggled to trace people that came into contact with Hungarian Foreign Minister Peter Szijjarto, who made a short visit to Cambodia on November.

- As of November 12, Indonesia reported 4,173 new COVID-19 cases which brings the total number cases in the country to 452,291. Disease activity in the country has peaked in September and October with a seven-day rolling average number of new cases reaching an all-time high of 4,378 as of September 26. Subsequently, cases reported daily have been on a declining trend. Since April, the government has been imposing measures to revive the country's economy by adjusting the country's Large-Scale Social Restrictions, although the situation of the pandemic did not improve in the country. The restrictions are implemented by local governments with the approval of the Ministry of Health, including the closure of public places, restricting capacity in public transport, and limiting travel to and from restricted regions. On November 9, the Jakarta Provincial Government extended the Large-Scale Social Restrictions until November 22. In that region, the average occupancy rate of ICU beds has declined from 62% as of 24 October to 60% as of November 7. Jakarta, East Java, and West Java remains the worst-hit provinces, accounting for approximately 50% of national cumulative cases.

Travel Advisories (no new update/s)

- Thailand: According to the country's Ministry of Foreign, the government have relaxed the criteria for issuing tourist visas and are now allowing foreigners from countries considered a "medium risk" to apply for a tourist visa. Thailand will start allowing some foreigners to enter on a 60-day tourist visa which can be extended to a 90-day stay. Thailand initially launched the new Special Tourist Visa for travellers from countries considered at "low risk" for spreading the coronavirus. The visa allows a 90-day stay that can be renewed twice, adding up to about 9 months. Since target countries like Europe and Scandinavia are categorized as "medium risk" countries, Thai consulates have relaxed regulations for applicants from these countries. The traveller, however, must still go through a 14-day quarantine upon entering Thailand and must arrange and pay for the alternative state quarantine (ASQ) hotel at their own expense.
