COVID-19: Highlights and Situation Overview

- Worldwide, there have been over 16.2 million reported cases, and over 649,000 deaths attributed to COVID-19. According to the World Health Organization (WHO), more than 1 million cases have been recorded weekly since the last week of June. Globally, the largest single-day increase was reported on July 24, with over 280,000 new cases. This rise in cases has been mostly driven by community transmission of the virus in large and populous countries within the Americas and South Asian regions. The United States remains the country with the highest cumulative reported cases and, on July 24, reported, for the second consecutive day, the largest single-day increase with over 70,000 new infections and more than 1,000 new deaths. In addition, this week, India and Brazil reported record-high single-day increases in cases.
- The Banten Provincial Administration in Indonesia has, once again, extended large-scale social restrictions (PSBB) until August 8. According to authorities, Banten province now ranks 13th after previously ranking 12th a week ago on the national [COVID-19] transmission ranking with 1,719 cases as of July 25. Meanwhile, a government authority has announced that Bali island will reopen its borders for international tourists on September 11 under strict health protocol. It was explained that the Bali administration had prepared a three-phase plan on relaxing restrictions to welcome tourists to the island. The first phase started on July 9 when the administration began reopening local businesses and tourist spots for residents of Bali. Third phase would be launched on September 11 including opening of borders for international tourists.
- The Lao Ministry of Health reported one new case of COVID-19 on Friday (July 24) for the first time in 102 days. According to the Ministry, the new case is a South Korean man, who is a staff of a hydropower project in Laos. The 32-year-old patient travelled from Japan and transited through South Korea on July 18, and arrived in Laos on the same day.
- Malaysia government authorities announced today (July 17) that the country will implement the movement control order (MCO) again if the number of COVID-19 cases climbs to three digits.
- The Philippines reported 2,110 new confirmed cases of COVID-19 on Sunday (July 26) bringing the country's total to 80,448. The Presidential spokesperson said that Metro Manila may revert to much stricter 'modified enhanced community quarantine' measures if the number of confirmed virus infections rises to 85 thousand by July 31.
- Singapore COVID-19 cases reached more than 50,000 with 481 new COVID-19 cases as of Sunday (July 26), including five infections in the community. This brings the total number of cases in the country to 50,369. According to the Ministry of Health (MOH), four of the new community cases are work permit holders and one is a work pass holder. Three of the community cases are currently unlinked. All three were asymptomatic and detected as a result of periodic screening of workers in essential services who are living outside the dormitories. The number of new cases in the community has decreased, from an average of 10 cases per day in the week before, to an average of seven per day in the past week.
- Health authorities in Vietnam reported on July 15 the first locally transmitted case of COVID-19 in nearly 100 days without local transmission. The Ministry of Health says local health officials have tested 105 people known to have been in close contact with this case.

Travel Advisories (new update/s)

- Malaysia and Singapore announced yesterday (July 26) in a joint statement that they had agreed to allow cross-border travel between the two countries under the Reciprocal Green Lane (RGL) and Periodic Commuting Arrangement (PCA) starting August 10. RGL will allow 400 Malaysians and Singaporeans to travel to and from the two countries every week but this is restricted to official travel and important business matters. PCA will allow some 2,000 Malaysians and Singaporeans with long-term work permits to cross the Causeway and the Second Link every day. The two countries have also agreed to develop a proposal for daily commuters crossing the border for work and will work out arrangements for cross-border travel for compassionate reasons.
- Philippines: Philippines' government authority stated today (July 27) that the country has re-imposed a ban on non-essential travel abroad, more than two weeks after permitting touristic trips outside the country. An exception would be made for tourists with confirmed bookings as of July 20.
- Thailand: Center for COVID-19 Situation Administration (CCSA) on Saturday (July 25) released several guidelines on steps required to enter Thailand, after the government decided to allow more categories of foreigners into the country last week. Travelers are required to contact the Royal Thai Embassy or consulate to get an entry visa and a certificate of entry, which will be considered on a case-by-case basis. Applications for inbound travelers must include travel details, health insurance with a coverage of at least 100,000 U.S. dollars, as well as booking at an alternative state quarantine site. Once the inbound traveler lands in Thai soil, he or she will need to demonstrate to airport and health authorities a certificate of a COVID-19 test taken within a 72-hour period with a negative result and a fit-to-fly certificate. For those on very short trips to Thailand including filmmakers and business people participating in trade fairs, they will have to stick to their itineraries and will not be allowed to wander to public venues or take public transport. These people are exempted from the 14-day mandatory quarantine procedures. The CCSA said that the groups of foreigners allowed into Thailand may include spouses, parents or children of Thai nationals; non-Thais with rightful papers to work in Thailand, or on student visa, and tourists who had already made appointments with Thai hospital for medical treatments.
